

Study Program

NAME OF THE CLASS:

Structures, Process and Organizational Behavior

CLAVE: ADM-14405

GENERAL OBJECTIVES:

- Theme search on the data base used by the “biblioteca”
- Write an essay and an academic report and learn the differences between them
- Define organizational behavior.
- Explain why a systemize diagnostic method is used inside Corporations.
- Difference between values, perceptions, behavior and personalities.
- Distinguish and Apply the different motivational theories
- Identify in Mexican corporations the theory application
- Build, apply and read into an organization diagnose
- Create different organization diagnoses to have a better interpretation of your own profile
- Identify the procedures and challenges on team work.
- Apply the theory in team work to exploit personal strengths and areas of opportunity.

Themes and Subthemes:

1. Introduction to Organizational behavior
 2. Skills, Knowledge and Personalities
 3. Values: Rokeach, Hofstede, Schwartz
 4. Aptitudes: Satisfaction, compromise, engagement and applications
First Partial Exam
 5. Emotions, Work Stress and life balance
 6. Perception and decision making
 7. Motivation: theory bases
 8. Motivation: Organization applications
 9. Group behavior
 10. Team works
Second Partial Exam
 11. Communication
 12. Leadership: Basic views
 13. Leadership: Contemporary views
 14. Power and influence
 15. Organizational culture
-
-

Course Evaluation:
Homeworks	15%
First Partial Exam	20%
Team Simulator	20%
Final Work	15%
Participation	10%
Final Exam	20%

BIBLIOGRAPHY:

Obligatory Readings

- Robbins S.(2003), Comportamiento Organizacional,10 Ed Hall
- Assigned articles